

IN HUB MARKETS

Quotations on the Leading Products in Demand.

Boston, Nov. 27.—Butter is steady, with little change in the market. Extra creamery, small pkgs, 24¢@25¢; western, 23¢; eastern 23½¢; dairies, 19¢@21¢; firsts, 19½¢@22¢; ladles, 15¢@18¢; jobbing, ½¢ to 1¢ more.

Cheese is well held, with the demand fair. Prices are generally steady. Round lots, new, 10½¢@11½¢; sage, 11 1/4¢@11½¢; jobbing, ½¢ to 1¢ higher.

Eggs are fairly sustained, though New York lost a cent. Here quotations are unchanged at: Storage, 18¢@19¢; fresh western, 22¢@25¢; choice Michigan, 26¢@30¢; eastern, 25¢@30¢; nearby and fancy, 32¢@38¢ and up; jobbing, 1¢ to 1½¢ higher.

Beans are still in only moderate receipt of the new crop, with the market steady.

Apples continue firm, with arrivals of good well taken care of. The markets abroad are firm, and lots are taken freely about as fast as they arrive. Quotations are firm, with many choice lots bringing even more. Fancy Baldwins and greenings, $3.50@4.00; ordinary to good, $2.50@3.25; gravenstein, $3.50@4.25; western Ben Davis, $3.50@3.50; snows, $2.50@3.50; pound sweets, $3.50@4.00; Tolman sweets, $3.50@3.50; No. 2, all grades, $2.50@2.50; mixed lots, $2.50@3.00; very choice and jobbing lots, $2.50@3.00.

Pears are in small supply and all in cold storage. They are taken out almost every day and sold at $2.25@3.50 per bx, as to variety and quality. Some seekles, from cold storage, were sold at $2.50.

Cranberries are in good supply and the quality is particularly fine. They sell well and bring good prices from $5.50 @8 per bl, and $1.50@2 per cr, for wholesale and jobbing.

Quinces are about out of market and sell at $1.50@2 per bu, with small pkgs all the way from 50¢ to $1.

Potatoes are very firm, and prices were considerably advanced. Sweet potatoes are also firmer. Houlton green mountains, $5.50@8¢; Hebrons, $6.00@5¢; rose, 75¢@80¢; Dakota reds, 75¢@80¢; Chenangoes, 75¢; western Hebrons and green mountains, 75¢@80¢; Virginia sweet, $2.25@2.50 per bl; Jersey double head, $2.50@3.

Onions are scarce and very high. They are quoted at $4.45 per bl for native and at $1.75@2.25 per bu. Spanish are quoted at $1.50 for small cots, with large cots at $3.25.

Celery is in good supply, with little change in prices. Pasquale, $1.00@1.25 per doz; Boston market, $1.25@1.50; white, 50¢@60¢. Spinach is quoted at 15¢ per doz. Cauliflowers sell at $1.00 per doz, as to quality. Radishes are higher at 50¢@81.25 per bx; lettuce, 50¢@75¢ per bx of three doz. Beet greens sell at 50¢ per bu.

Squashes are remarkably high and have made another advance of $500 per ton, including all kinds. They have to be jobbed at $2.75@3.25 per 100 lbs. Pumpkins are sold at 50¢@75¢ per bx. Tomatoes are scarce and bring 25¢ per lb for hothouse. Cucumbers are higher at $4.75 per 100, with seconds at half price.

Cabbages are higher at $3.00 per 100; yellow turnips, 75¢@90¢ per bl for St. Andrews and Canadian; white French, $1 per bl; globe white and white flat, 40¢ per bl. Beets job at 50¢@60¢ per bu; carrots, 40¢; parsnips, 50¢@60¢. Mint sells at 40¢ per doz; cress, 40¢; parsley, 50¢ per bu.

Southern string beans are scarce and bring $6 per basket or crate for either wax or green.

Pork and lard are not changed from the stronger prices.

Beef is about steady, with the market fairly sold up. The best beef is scarce and very firm, but the supply of medium and light is very full, with the market easy.

The mutton market is dull, with too great a supply for Thanksgiving. The receipts, particularly of lambs, have been large of late, while the demand has been hardly up to the usual volume, owing to a full supply of poultry. The market is easy, with veals fairly steady. Lambs, 5½¢@8¢; fancy and Brightons, 7¢@8¢; yearlings, 4¢@6¢; muttons, 4¢@6¢; fancy, 6¢@8¢; veals, 8¢@10¢; fancy and Brightons, 10¢@11¢.

Thanksgiving turkeys are pretty high. Other poultry is dull and rather easy. Choice northern young turkeys, 18¢@19¢; good northern, 15¢@17¢; western, 12¢@16¢; leed, 9½¢@11¢; fresh native chickens, 13¢@17¢; western, 9¢@12¢; fresh fowls, 10¢@11¢; leed fowls, 9¢@10¢; leed chicks, 10¢@11¢; live fowls, 8¢@9¢; live chickens, 8½¢@10¢; green ducks, 13¢@15¢.

Game is in small supply. A few quail from the west are selling at about $4.25 per doz at retail. Grouse are very scarce and retail at $2.25@2.30 per pair. Rabbits sell at wholesale at about 25¢ per pair, with only a few yet on hand. Jack rabbits sell at 50¢ per pair at wholesale. Venison is rather scarce, as a whole, though deer have been coming in rather more freely since the snow in Maine. Whole deer sell at 12¢@15¢; saddles, 16¢@18¢; moose, whole, 9¢@8¢; saddles, 14¢@16¢.

Hay is firm, with prices strong. Straw is thoroughly sustained. Millfeed is very firm at the recent advance. Prices on millfeed are unusually high, following the high position of corn, for which they are substituted as feed. The mills have no trouble in disposing of all the feed they can make, even at the very high prices. Hay, $12@18.50; fancy and jobbing, $18.50@19; rye straw, $16@17.50; oat straw, $11@12.

The meal markets are very strong, by reason of the strong position of corn and oats. A great scarcity of milling flour is still reported. Rye and rye flour are firm at rather higher prices.

W. C. T. U. COLUMN.

RELATION OF THE SALOON TO ANARCHY.

The following cases of assault and violence were proven by an official investigation by the Nebraska legislature in the Boyd-Powers election contest:

Mr. G. W. Clark, an old man distributing prohibition amendment tickets of all parties was assaulted by Henry Vass, a brewer, who snatched the tickets and tore them in pieces. Clark was then notified by a committee of saloon men to leave the polls or take the bitter consequences. He was hooted and driven from the polls. An old gentleman of 60, for the same offence, was brutally beaten, and when attempting to defend himself with his cane was run in by the police while his drunken assailant was let go, as he doing good work at the polls. At the same time and in the same third district of the ninth ward, the W. C. T. U. women were assaulted, beaten, and insulted with oaths and obscene language, and fled to headquarters for their lives. Dr. Kauffman was pounded, had his tickets taken from him, and was driven from the polls. Rev. F. P. Swanson, pastor of the Swedish Methodist church, was beaten, rotten-eggged, and dragged from the polls. R. W. Richardson had his tickets taken from him and destroyed, and was threatened with violence if he did not leave the polls, and the police looked on but would not interfere. Rev. Q. N. Shinn was assaulted and beaten and threatened with death. He was kicked out of the crowd and fled for his life. This mob was led by Chas. A. Coe, treasurer of the bogus Bankers and Business Men's Association operated by rum sellers under this disguise. Mr. Shinn, when threatened, appealed to the police who ordered him to leave if he did not want to get hurt, and was told that "preachers had no business there anyway." Mr. Prough was knocked down twice, his head cut open and one of his eyes badly bruised. A gentleman accompanying him was kicked and rotten-eggged, and both were compelled to run for their lives. It was shown that there was violence in every ward in Omaha, and in 33 of the 41 election precincts. There was also an organized boycott attempted of all business men who did not contribute to oppose prohibition. Naturalization papers were taken out for 3000 foreigners by the liquor organizations in this campaign.

Can we fairly and aptly apply any other term than anarchy to the saloon-inspired opinion of ex-Attorney-General Griggs regarding the first anti-canteen law? And what shall be said of the organized rebellion against law and the will of the people on the part of the present war department and officers of the army in collusion with a venial and debauched newspaper press, for the purpose of reinstating the canteen by law? That this purpose is clearly evident, is seen in the concerted publication by the daily press of the country of news, indicating a common source, of shocking scenes of drunkenness and disorder by soldiers in the vicinity of forts and army posts, unparalleled in the palmy days of the canteen, but which upon investigation prove the news to be not only utterly false but the very reverse of the facts. And this news has continued to be spread and commented on notwithstanding the sworn affidavits to the contrary of the officers of the villages involved and the testimony of other investigators. So degrading seems to be the influence of the saloon on all who have to do with it.

Is it that the saloonists realize their responsibility for the work of the infamous Czolgosz that they are so industriously endeavoring to fasten the term anarchy on the work of the prohibitionists? And are a few representatives of the daily press taking up the cry for the money that is in it? The temperance press in its recent issues is generally agreed as to the relation of the saloon to anarchy. The American Issue speaking of "The Roots of Anarchy" says: "Such deeds as the attempted assassination of President McKinley may be traced to two sources in our American civilization. . . . The second count in this indictment must be against the un-American saloon. We have no wish to heap upon this vile business any crimes of which it is not guilty, for it is drunk already with the blood of millions it has slain; but a due share of this latest tragedy must be placed to its credit. The Cincinnati Enquirer of September 8, commenting upon the life and character of the would-be assassin, makes the following statement concerning the influences surrounding him in the city of Cleveland:

"Shortly after coming to this city 15 years ago Leon's father started a saloon, in the rear of which was a small building used as a rendezvous and meeting place for a dozen or fifteen men who called themselves anarchists. Leon was too young to be a member of that gang, but he was a great listener to the harangues that these men indulged in, and they probably had some effect on his youthful mind." Thus it will be seen that during the most impressionable part of his life he spent most of his time in the rear room of a saloon listening to the mad vapors of the frequenters of the place.

The Monitor (Clearfield, Pa.), says: "Trace the deed that on last Friday plunged the nation into horror and gloom, back to its genesis and you will find it in that Cleveland saloon, reeking with the fumes of liquor and infested by a pestilential brood of haranguing anarchists. What else could be expected from a boy reared in such a poisonous atmosphere? But the indictment of the saloon for complicity in the crime of last Friday is not yet complete. Czolgosz's home for several days after going to Buffalo was at a Polish saloon. He went from the saloon to the commission of his crime. He is a product of the saloon, a habitant of the saloon, the government-fostered saloon, the flag-protected saloon. Whose saloon?"

The Standard (Binghamton, N. Y.) says: "Anarchy is not a cause; it is an effect. . . . The saloon is the incubator for anarchy. . . . Remove the legalized liquor traffic from American life and a generation hence it will be impossible to find an anarchist in America."

A GOOD COUGH MEDICINE. [From the Gazette, Toowoomba, Australia.] I find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is an excellent medicine. I have been suffering from a severe cough for the last two months, and it has effected a cure. I have great pleasure in recommending it.—W. C. Wockner. This is the opinion of one of our oldest and most respected residents, and has been voluntarily given in good faith that others may try the remedy and be benefited as well as Mr. Wockner. This remedy is sold by H. C. Pierce, Barton, H. S. Webster, Barton Landing, W. E. Tripp, E. Charleston.

Mr. Roosevelt's Thanksgiving Turkey.

Following the precedent of almost thirty Thanksgiving Days, Horace Vose, of Westerly, Rhode Island, will send the prize turkey of all his flocks to grace the new president's dinner-table on November 28. "When Mr. Vose began the custom of sending a turkey to the president," writes a contributor to the November Ladies' Home Journal, "he had no other motive than the desire to send a Thanksgiving bird to the man who writes the Thanksgiving proclamations. The pioneer turkey went to President Grant in 1873. It weighed thirty-six pounds, and elicited the first of the courteous notes that have been coming ever since in acknowledgment from the executive mansion. Mr. Vose has been dubbed 'The Turkey King.' All through the summer and fall he makes occasional visits to the farms in the vicinity, keeping a watchful eye on the many flocks, and eagerly scanning the strutting companies for the coming champion, the distinguished member of all the feathered tribes that is to rise eventually to the dignity of a place on the White House dinner-table."

TO GET RID OF A TROUBLESOME CORN. First soak it in warm water to soften it, then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing the blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily; rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn for a few days to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, Pain Balm is unequalled. For sale by H. C. Pierce, Barton, H. S. Webster, Barton Landing, W. E. Tripp, E. Charleston.

President Roosevelt's Feeling toward the South.

Rep. Livingston, of Georgia, was the first democratic member of congress to call at the White House to pay his respects to President Roosevelt. In the brief conversation which followed, Mr. Livingston expressed his wish to assist the president in any way he could in administering public affairs for the good of the whole country. "My dear man," exclaimed President Roosevelt, grasping the congressman's hand vigorously, "I will have no use for dividing lines or sectionalism in this country during my administration, and I am sincerely grateful to you for offering to help me make my administration a national one. I wish you would read my speech delivered in Minnesota a few days before President McKinley was shot. I want you to tell me frankly if you think it was broad enough to cover every section of the country. If it was not I am willing to make it broader. It will be my earnest and sincere desire to treat all the people of this country alike without regard to sectional lines. I want you to understand that my mother was from Georgia and that I have a very warm and kindly feeling for the people in Georgia, and all the people of the South. I want you to remember that I am a president of the whole country, and during my administration, it will be my earnest desire to merit the affection and confidence of the people of the South as well as those from the North, East or the West."

Coughs and Colds in Children. RECOMMENDATION OF A WELL KNOWN CHICAGO PHYSICIAN.

I use and prescribe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for almost all obstinate, constricted coughs, with direct results. I prescribe it to children of all ages. Am glad to recommend it to all in need and seeking relief from colds and coughs and bronchial affections. It is non-narcotic and safe in the hands of the most unprofessional. A universal panacea for all mankind.—MRS. MARY R. MELENDEZ, M. D., Ph. D., Chicago, Ill. This remedy is for sale by H. C. Pierce, Barton, H. S. Webster, Barton Landing, W. E. Tripp, E. Charleston.

HOUSEHOLD.

They Two.

They are left alone in the dear old home, After so many years. When the house was full of frolic and fun, Of childish laughter and tears. They are left alone, they two—once more Beginning life over again, Just as they did in the days of yore, Before they were nine or ten.

And the table is set for two these days; The children went one by one Away from home on their separate ways When the childhood days were done. How healthily hungry they used to be! What romping they used to do! And mother for weeping—can hardly see To set the table for two.

They used to gather around the fire While some one would read aloud. But whether at study or work or play 'Twas a loving and merry crowd, And now they are two that gather there At evening to read or sew, And it seems almost too much to bear When they think of the long ago.

Ah, well—ah, well, 'tis the way of the world! Children stay but a little while And then into other scenes are whirled, Where other homes beguile; But it matters not how far they roam Their hearts are fond and true, And there's never a home like the dear old home, Where the table is set for two.

Youths' Companion.

Peanut Brittle.

Shell and remove the brown skins from two quarts of peanuts; roll until the kernels are broken to the size of half a pea. Sift, saving the siftings to dust over a board when you are rolling the candy. Put one pound of granulated sugar in an aluminum or iron saucepan over the fire; stir until the sugar is melted and a light brown. Be careful not to burn. Mix in quickly half the nuts and turn at once on to the board that has been dusted with the fine nuts. Roll without delay into a very thin sheet. Then with a large knife mark into squares. In a few moments break apart. You may then melt the second pound of sugar in the same way.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Keeping the Window Garden Bright.

To be attractive as a whole, every plant in the window garden must be kept clean and in a healthy condition. Those that have become diseased, or that bloom little in winter and are not fine in leaf, may be retired to some cool but frost-proof place, and kept almost dry until their season of attractiveness comes round again.

Faded chrysanthemums may be placed on the retired list, cutting their tops away, and bringing in from frames or cool rooms budding or blooming plants displaced by them. Freesias, Roman hyacinths, Paper White narcissi, and Duc Van Thol tulips will bloom for Christmas if they were potted early, but if kept in dark, cool quarters they can be forced almost at will, and it is a good idea to keep them back until they are more needed.

Cacti, that are dormant now although they love sun in winter, will endure such a course of treatment very well if kept almost dry. The flat-leaved showy phyllocacti like a vigorous letting alone in winter. The cellar is not a good resting place for such plants. A sunny room is better.

The epiphyllum, or lobster cactus, is often very bright with blossoms in December. A tabouret no wider than the "lobster pot," or a bracket, is a good place for it, especially if the plant be a large one and has a thick drooping crown of "claws," each tipped with a waxen pink flower. This and other cacti that are growing or blooming in warm rooms need an abundant supply of water.—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Best Gifts.

The best gifts are those which put no tax upon material resources, but trifles of which the recipient may make frequent use and so keep the giver in mind. Perhaps those that are most gracefully given are such as owe their suggestion to some remembered taste, want or need of a friend.—Exchange.

How to Clean the Bathtub.

An enameled bathtub can be quickly and easily cleaned by scouring with a cloth wet with benzine and afterward washing with soap and water, or it can be scoured with a tablespoonful of kitchen salt wet with turpentine and then rubbed carefully with a clean cloth. When the latter method is employed care should be taken to see that the tub is perfectly dry before using the turpentine.

When the enamel begins to wear off your tub it is difficult to keep it clean. It should be re-enameled and can be done at slight expense. The first thing to do is to scrub the tub with a strong solution of soda and water. Let it dry and apply the first coat of enamel: dry for two days and apply another coat. After twenty-four hours, the time necessary to dry perfectly, fill it with cold water, and let it stand for six hours. Empty, dry thoroughly and apply the third and last coat of enamel.—Exchange.
